M. CARY McNAB

Candidate for the Republican Nomination for Judge of Common Pleas Court.

M. C. McNab has been actively engaged in the practice of law in Youngstown since his admission to the bar, The Ohio experiment station at large and general practice, and his wooster will hold a corn field meet at the station, Sept. 10 and 11, when many farmers from all parts of the state are expected to be present.

leaders of the bar of the county.

Mr. McNab's career at the bar has been a successful and honorable one and

M. CARY MCNAB.

he is now seeking the Republican nomination for Common Pleas Judge in this sub-division, to be voted for at the primaries on Sept. 7th, and his knowledge of the law, his experience at the bar and freedom from entanglements and fac-tionalism, which might interfere with his duties on the bench, should be im-portant factors in his favor in securing for him this nomination. The office of Common Pleas Judge in this county, is one calling for the highest character and widest experience in the incumbent, and candidates for this office should be carefully considered and position calling for the qualifications which a satisfactory Common Pleas Judge must necessarily have.

The Hospital's Place.

Florence Goetz of Williamsburg, had swallowed carbolic acid, and it was imperative that she be taken to the hospital at once. Fourteen of her family fought her removal and the police reserves had to be called out. Her people wished her to "die at home in peace," even when the alternative was a chance of being saved in hospital.

In a contrasting case a girl of ten was taken in haste to a hospital with acute appendicitis. She went calmly into the ether sleep, for wise relatives assured her that "the doctors would do it right." Her convalescence was one long play spell in sunny rooms, smiled on by doctors and nurses whose skill had not lessened their sympathy. When she was to leave she begged:

'Can't I stay another week?" The fatalist of eastern races, when stricken with serious disease, rolls himself in a blanket, says his time has come and dies, accepting or anticipating destiny. A gritty westerner in like circumstances, far from cities. says: "I wou't die," and often keeps his promise. In our great cities ignorance and superstition lead some to conceal disease until it is too late, but more sensible people promptly seek medical aid and the death rate constantly decreases.

Too Fat to Drown. George Lawes, a traveler, who was entenced to three months' hard inor at a London (Eng.) police court ecently for embezzlement, is in the ortunate position of being unable to drown himself.

After his defalcations had been dis overed Lawes made up his mind to take his life, and wrote a letter to his wife stating that he had gone to commit suicide. He then went to a near by park and threw himself into the eepest part of a lake. To his surprise he did not sink; every time he thrust himself under he water he came to the top again like a cork. At length, in disgust, he swam ashore and walked him.

"He was too fat to sink," a police nan explained to the magistrate.

Different. "I wrote him that I was ready to come home."

"Was he glad?"

"He wrote me that he would have to borrow money to pay my fare "

"What did you do?"

"I saked him what I should do and he said he would borrow money enough for me to stay there a while longer."

SOUNDED LIKE A CONFESSION NEWS FROM DIAMOND

Deacon's Well-Meant Attempt to Lead Choir Almost Broke Up Church Services.

However regrettable It may be, the ordinary church choir is not noted for harmony, except, as may apply in some cases, in their vocal efforts. Generally, too, the much used French saying, "cherchez la femme," will locate the trouble, or the beginning of it, at least. But then, where does a mixed organization exist in which a woman does not take a sweet delight in setting the broth boiling once in a while, just to see the water bubble? It's a part of her irresistible nature-she just can't help it. The spinster contralto had made some remarks about the hat of the tenor's wife, and the petty ruction that it started in the choir world on Monday had not been smoothed over at the close of the week, and Sunday found the choir loft empty. The minister was obviously displeased, but without comment he arose and announced the opening hymn, which he at once began reading, commencing "I love to steal a while away," selected possibly with some application to the absent choir.

Lacking the trained voices to lead the singing, one of the worthy deacons volunteered to throw himself into the breach, and he proceeded to lead. He struck the tune at such an angle that it was evident he intended to hit only the high places, and when he had got so far as "I love to steal" -he broke down. He pitched it a second time and again broke down at steal, because he was away too low. Nothing daunted, however, he started in again and sang "I love to steal"and again he went down as before.

The audience became so amused at this point that suppressed giggles threatened to break up the sessions, so the minister arose and, with grave and solemn dignity, said:

"It is greatly to be regretted. I will proceed at once to the sermon." -Judge.

BREAD USED AS FURNITURE In Sunny Countries the Staff of Life

Serves Other Purposes Than Those of Sustenance.

In the land of the pyramids whenever coffee is brought in to a visiting guest, the sun cooked bread sheeting is always served therewith. It looks like so much chamois leather, and is of sweetish taste, being compounded solely of flour and the expressed pulp of sultana raisins. It is cleanly to handle and can be crumpled up in the hand without fracture.

This bread sheeting is a most important article of interior commerce, per camel caravans, among the Asiatle kalifats and bazars. It has for thousands of years been their combined bread, cracker and cake, all in

The bread sheeting is used in the countries of origin as minor articles of furniture and furnishings-just as the natives of the tropics make a bewildering variety of uses of the cocoanut palm and its products-as sun blinds, awnings, lanterns, cahiers for holding papers, and so on through a dozen uses. In their dry climate these uses are practicable, but in rainy seasons the goods if wetted collapse like paper almost.

Even in Manhattan among the Italan bakers you see the peculiar trels work hardtack bread (made in big ringed sheets about a yard square) made to do duty as temporary shelv ing. It will not stand much weight, but is used for drying out light articles, as the air strikes the objects weighed before being voted for to fill a both from below and above.-Bakers Weekly.

Everybody Happy?

No one has any more right to go about unhappy than he has to go about ill-bred. He owes it to himself, to his friends, to society, to the community in general, to live up to his best spiritual possibilities, not only now and then, once or twice a year, or once in a season, but every day and every hour.-Lillian Whiting.

There is a difference. The surest proof that my eye examination is the most satisfactory is that my business is constantly increasing-of course, the other tellows have to live and I dont want all the business. I prefer people who appreciate the value of their eyes and who are only satisfied with the best, especially when the cost is less than for poor work.
